The diagram is a genealogical chart template. It features a central vertical line with a horizontal line extending to the left, representing the individual being registered. From this central point, two lines branch out to the right, leading to two boxes for the sire and dam. Each of these boxes then branches out again to the right, leading to four boxes for the grandparents (sire's sire, sire's dam, dam's sire, and dam's dam). The boxes are empty, and the lines are red, indicating a template for recording pedigree information.
